What an amazing conference! Teachers, Related Services Team Members and select staff had the opportunity to participate in the Dynamic & Postural Reflex Integration course last week.

This course provides the foundation for professionals and parents to understand the importance of primary motor reflex pattern maturation, why a reflex might not be integrated, the impact a nonintegrated reflex can have, and the MNRI techniques designed to assess and integrate reflexes. Primary motor reflex patterns emerge along a predictable developmental continuum, with each successive reflex emerging to secure a child's survival and protection as his system mature and advances. When adequately engaged, each reflex anchors neurologically more deeply a physiological, emotional and psychological sense of security, freeing an infant to focus on exploring, learning, and fully advancing through all stages of primary motor reflex maturation. It is through this complete integration process that primary motor reflex patterns form the foundation for related motor reflex schemes (sitting up, crawling, walking, etc.) to mature and for each of us to reach our full potential over time, anchoring emotional and behavioral regulation, and advancing motor, communication, and cognitive learning. Congenital disorders or traumatic events that occur in utero, at birth, or anytime after birth can interrupt the activation, maturation and integration of a primary motor reflex pattern. Depending upon the number of reflexes impacted and the maturational deficits of each impacted reflex, a broad spectrum of life challenges can occur.

"I found out that my reflexes were not integrated and it was amazing to see how working on reflexes made such a positive change in how my body was feeling. I was able to truly understand how the students at CTC can feel." Lisa Bruno, Related Services

"This approach will help us fill in the developmental gaps for functional and volitional movement that are "missing" for our students. It has given us tools to help change the way our students interact with the world through movement. Very exciting!" Michele Parkins, Related Services

A PEEK INTO THE TRANSITION PROGRAM

It was all smiles for Alex, Justin and Connor on their recent trip to the dentist. Dr. Baron, a local dentist in Rockaway, gave these student a tour of his office to allow them to see a day-in-the-life of a dentist. They had the opportunity to learn about office equipment, the use of two types of x-ray machines, the use of a dental camera and the overall operation of the office. The highlight was using a dental laser to cut through a piece of steak!

This trip was part of the transition job shadow program. Job shadowing is a career exploration activity that offers an opportunity to spend time with a professional in a particular career area. Job shadowing offers a chance to see what it is actually like working in a specific job. Not only do students get to observe the day-to-day activities of someone in the current workforce, they also get a chance to have their questions answered.

"I'M NOT GOING TO LOSE IT!" How to Stay Regulated and Calm While Helping Your Child Work Through Challenging Issues - Parents and Professionals Working Together PARENT TRAINING

Presenting: Profectum Webcast
Mona Delahooke, PhD; Megan Browne
Moderator: Ricki Robinson, MD, MPH

We all know the role of the parent is vital to the success of the child but how does a parent of a child with behavioral challenges maintain emotional control 24/7? Using the "R" in DIR-FCI Model is vital. Calming strategies are necessary for both the parent and the child. A framework of five critical points will help move the initial gut reaction toward a more positive interaction. The ultimate goal is to teach the child that he can obtain what he needs without having to resort to challenging behavior.

April 28, 2014
11:30 am to 1:00 pm

YOU ARE NOT ALONE!

When you are a parent of a child with special needs, simple daily activities can feel overwhelming. The Parent-to-Parent panel hosted by Dr. Ricki Robinson with Monica G. Osgood and Lauren Blaszak takes a look into some of the daily life challenges of parenting a child with special needs.

Parents share experiences and suggestions on the topics of: self-help, toileting, schedules, food and pickiness, sleep patterns/deprivation, family members, time management, going out in public, structure, routine and more.

This honest and wise contribution by parents is a highlight of Profectum Parent Educational Program.

WHY ARE WE USING SOCIAL MEDIA AND WHY SHOULD YOU FOLLOW US?

Autism is the fastest-growing serious developmental disability in the United States and now affects 1 in 50 children. More children will be diagnosed with autism this year than AIDS, diabetes and cancer combined.

We are at an important time in the field of special needs intervention as many people are beginning to recognize the need for approaches that look at the overall development of a child and target areas such as abstract thinking, problem solving, independence, self-esteem, emotions, language, and social interactions in a natural and supportive setting. At this time, the demand for this type of intervention is much greater than what clinicians and educators are able to supply. Therefore, it is crucial that we share the amazing programs we have to offer and the “how to” with others.

To fulfill our mission, we need your help and ask you to participate with us in the development of work, in the sharing and building of materials, and in the structure and growth of our organizations: Celebrate the Children and Profectum. Like us on Facebook, Pinterest and Twitter and spread awareness of progressive programs that support families and help individuals reach their highest potential and find success in society.

Please share our pages and posts with your family and friends! ☺
